

In addition to his duties as TNK Children’s Foundation board member, Jim Fisher serves as an administrator in the Kansas City Civic department at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation.

He is co-founder of EPEC, a nonprofit organization concerned with breaking the cycle of poverty, and served as its founding board chair. In 2013, he was named a “Changemaker” at the Levitt Social Entrepreneurship Challenge where EPEC took first prize.

Prior to the Kauffman Foundation, Jim worked closely with a successful regional entrepreneur, assisting in all aspects of his extensive manufacturing and agricultural holdings and enterprises. His previous positions include CME Administrative Coordinator at the American Academy of Family Physicians in Leawood, Kansas and executive and personal assistant to the CEO and Chairman of The Decurion Corporation in Beverly Hills, California.

In his spare time, Jim enjoys painting, playing guitar and serving as policy advisor to his dog, Governor Whisker.

Jim earned a Bachelor of Science degree in history with a minor in East Asian Languages and Cultures from the University of Kansas and holds a masters degree in public administration from the Bloch School of Management at the University of Missouri-Kansas City.
